Your Breeze website guide

A practical guide to keeping your website clear, current and ready for customers.

Welcome! Your website editor gives you a simple way to update text, photos and business details. You can review your changes privately before showing them to customers.

The everyday routine

Choose a page. Make your changes. Check the preview. Click Save draft, then Publish changes when you are ready.

A draft is a private working copy. Publishing makes it available to website visitors. Typing in a field does not automatically save your work.

Find what you need

Sign in and publish	The steps you will use most often. Page 2
Update a page	Find your page and change the wording. Page 3
Business details	Phone, email, address and social profiles. Page 4
Photos and banners	Upload, choose and arrange your images. Page 5
Reviews and promotions	Customer feedback and seasonal offers. Page 6
Search and sharing	Page descriptions and shared-link images. Page 7
Help when you need it	Simple fixes, recovery and support. Page 8

Keep this guide handy. The contents above are clickable, and the footer on later pages takes you back here.

Sign in, save and publish

Start with the confirmed admin link your developer sends at handover.

01 Sign in. Open your admin link and enter the username and password supplied privately. Bookmark that link so it is easy to find next time.

02 Choose a page. Use the left menu or Find a page. On a phone, open the menu button first. If you see Copy existing content, click it once to prepare that page for editing; this does not publish anything.

03 Make a small change. Update the field you need. Use Your draft in Preview to see your working copy. Try Desktop, Tablet and Mobile to check how it fits.

04 Save your work. Click Save draft and wait for confirmation. You can stop here and return later. Visitors still see the previously published version.

05 Make it live. When the draft looks right, click Publish changes. Wait until the editor confirms Live on website or says your changes are visible. Publishing can also save your current edits first; saving a draft separately gives you a useful review point.

06 Check the real page. Use View website, or Publishing details > Open published page. Refresh the page and read the updated section. Then return to the editor and Sign out when finished.

Good to know

Each page is saved and published separately. If you update three pages, publish each one. Business details can affect several pages at once.

Your sign-in session lasts up to eight hours. If you need to sign in again, copy any unsaved wording somewhere safe first. For a forgotten password, contact your developer.

Find and update a page

Use the editor's page names to go straight to the content you want to change.

Menu area	What you will find
Homepage	Heating & cooling, contact introduction, review headings and service-area wording.
HVAC	Services overview and the individual heating, cooling and other service pages.
Promotions / Emergency	Seasonal offers, promotion page text and emergency service information.
Client	Reviews and Gallery.
About us	Company pages, Contact us, Careers and related articles.
Business details / Legal	Shared contact information, social profiles, privacy policy and terms.

For a normal page update

Choose the page, open Page content where available, and change the relevant heading or paragraph. Expand a card or section to see its fields. Where an item list offers Earlier and Later, use them to adjust the order. Review the preview, save, then publish.

For the homepage

Choose the section you need. The main hero artwork, booking form and section order are maintained by your developer. Change the review section's heading here; use Client > Reviews for the actual testimonials and homepage favorites.

Some headings have a small formatting toolbar. Select the words first, then choose the available formatting. Keep headings brief so they work on mobile.

If you cannot find a control

Ask your developer for help with a new page, layout, navigation, branding or a feature that is not offered in the editor. You can keep making the content changes that are available.

Keep your details current

Choose Business details in the menu to update information used across the website.

Contact	Change the Phone number and Public email shown in the website's contact links. Job application email is a separate destination for Careers applications.
Location	Update your address and check the map. Add your Google Maps directions link, or choose Use address for directions.
Social profiles	Choose + Add social link, select the platform and paste the full https:// link to the business profile. Each platform can appear once.
Shared website text	Update the shared contact banner or service callouts. Preview the different placements before publishing.

Check the available preview areas, such as Header, Footer and Contact location. Save and publish Business details, then check the phone, email and directions links on the public website.

Where do service enquiries go?

Service requests go directly to Housecall Pro. Manage booking form fields and lead notifications in your Housecall Pro account using Open Housecall Pro. Changing the public email here does not reroute those leads. The form is a placeholder inside the editor preview.

What about job applications?

The Careers form prepares an email in the visitor's email app. The visitor must send that email to complete the application. The destination is the Job application email field.

Where can I see website visits?

Use Open Clarity under Business details. Microsoft Clarity shows activity from the live public website after visitors allow analytics. Your website editor and preview are excluded.

After changing shared details, check the Contact us page and footer. If the business directions link changes, also review any separate homepage service-area wording.

Add photos and banners

Upload once, then choose the image wherever an image picker is available.

02 Upload or reuse. Use Upload images, or choose a photo already in Uploaded images. Wait for uploading and checking to finish, then click the image to select it. Uploading alone does not place it on the page.

03 Review the description. Where offered, describe what the photo shows, for example 'Breeze technician servicing an outdoor air conditioner.' The library's Default description is used for future selections; changing it does not change existing page descriptions.

04 Check and publish. Review the crop on desktop and mobile, then save the draft and publish the page. Until publication, a new upload stays private.

Choose a file the editor can use

Accepted formats: JPEG, PNG, WebP or AVIF, up to 10 MB each. Use still images up to 24 megapixels and 8192 pixels on either side. Convert phone HEIC photos to JPEG first. Use clear original photos you have permission to display.

Add a photo to the Gallery

Change a page banner

Choose a wide photo and check that the important part remains visible after cropping. Restore default hero brings back the original banner after saving and publishing. Homepage hero artwork is managed by your developer.

Removing or replacing a photo changes the draft; it does not permanently delete the original file. Publish the page for visitors to see the new selection.

Reviews and promotions

Keep customer feedback and seasonal offers accurate and easy to read.

Add or update a review

01 Open Client > Reviews. Choose + Add review, or expand an existing reviewer.

02 Enter Reviewer name and Full review. Use genuine feedback with permission to display it. An optional Homepage excerpt should keep the customer's original wording.

03 Keep Show this review checked to display it on the Client page. Use the star to feature it on the homepage. You can star up to three; unstar one before choosing a replacement. Use the arrows to reorder favorites.

04 Save and publish Reviews, then check both the homepage and the Client reviews page.

Hiding or removing a review also removes its homepage star. With no starred reviews, the homepage review section is hidden. The library supports up to 50 reviews. The Google rating in the hero is managed separately.

Update a promotion

01 Open Promotions and expand the seasonal offer you want to update. Check its heading, offer wording and any terms or eligibility details shown in the fields.

02 Check every amount, date and promise before publishing. Under Seasonal page hero images, you can choose separate summer and winter banners where needed.

03 Save and publish Promotions, then check the promotions listing and the relevant summer or winter page. These pages share one Promotions document.

A helpful monthly habit

Review seasonal offers, contact information and recent photos together. If you need a completely new offer type or destination page, ask your developer to add it.

Search results and sharing

These settings help describe your page when people find or share it.

Search title and description

On pages that offer it, open Search settings. Use Search title for a clear page name and Search description for a short, useful summary. On Reviews, expand Reviews page hero, headings and search settings.

A simple example

Search title: AC Repair in Nashville | Breeze Heating & Cooling

Search description: Need help with your air conditioner? Breeze provides cooling repairs in Nashville and nearby areas. Call to arrange a service visit.

Use wording that accurately describes your services. The preview is a guide; search engines may choose different text, and search results can take time to update after publication.

The picture shown with a shared link

OG image (optional) is the image a page can use when its link is shared in messages or on social media. Choose Upload or choose OG image, select a wide image, and save and publish the page. An image around 1200 x 630 pixels is a good fit.

The OG image is separate from the banner at the top of the page. Social and messaging apps may keep an older preview for a while. Promotions uses its shared-link image for both seasonal pages too.

Before every publication

Read it	Check spelling, phone numbers, prices and dates.
Preview it	Check desktop and mobile, especially image crops and long headings.
Publish it	Save, publish and wait for the live confirmation.
Open it	Refresh the public page and test the links you changed.

Help when you need it

Keep any unsaved wording safe before reloading, signing out or changing pages.

I cannot sign in	Use the confirmed admin link and check the username and password. If access still fails, contact your developer. There is no self-service password reset.
A button is unavailable	Wait for any upload, save or publish action to finish. Save draft is unavailable when nothing has changed. Publish may also be unavailable when the saved version is already live.
My change is not visible	Check that you published the right page, then refresh the public page. Open Publishing details. If offered, use Retry website update once it becomes available. This retries the saved publication.
An action shows an error	Read the message and use Check status before trying again. This keeps local edits. If it continues, send your developer the page name, message and time.
A newer draft exists	Copy any wording you want to keep, then choose Load latest draft. Coordinate with the other editor before continuing so you do not overwrite each other's work.
A photo will not upload	Check the format and file size on page 5. Use Refresh library; if offered, try Retry validation. If the upload was interrupted before completion, select the file again.
I made a mistake	For unsaved edits, Discard changes returns to the saved draft. If already saved or published, correct the wording and publish again. Ask your developer if an older revision needs recovery.
